STRANGE ACTOR SENT TO JAIL

Corporal Phillip Roller left on the 9 o'clock train this morning for Greensburg, having in his charge Frank Wagner, a lad 20 years old, who claimed to be from Pittsburgh. Wagner was arrested under the most peculiar circumstances. Traveling through Rostraver township on his way to Monessen, night overtook him on the evening of March 3rd and he stopped at the home of John Helen, a farmer, and asked permission to sleep in the barn. This Mr. Helen would not grant, fearing fire, and he took pity on the young man and permitted him to sleep in the house. After the family had retired someone heard the stranger moving about in the room in which he was sleeping and upon invesigation it was found that he was rumaging the house. He had taken a pair of drawers belonging to the hired man and had them on and was in the suit case fitting himself out with an entire new uniform.

Mr. Helen went to the stable, harnessed a horse, hitched it to a buggy and asked Wagner to get in, and he drove his guest to Monessen and turned him over to the state police. Corporal Roller upon information received, charged Wagner with larceny. He plead guilty and was placed under $200 bond for court and was removed to Greensburg this morning and placed in jail.

Suit Over School House Work

Antony Raveia, a stone mason, is plaintiff and T. C. Smith, a contractor of Charleroi, defendant in the last case to be tried in court this week. It was taken up before Judge A. D. McConnell in Greensburg at noon Wednesday.

Raveia claims a balance of $232 for work done on the Wireton school in Rostraver township. Smith contends that the $1.042 paid the plaintiff reduced his debt to within $10 of the amount still due.

Smith was granted the contract to build a two-room brick school house at Wireton by the Rostraver township schol board last June. The total amount of the contract called for the payment of $6,239.

Raveia secured a sub-contract to do the stone work. Smith says he was to receive $4.25 a perch, there being in all 293 perches.

Robbins & Wyant represent the plaintiff, while Marker & Hollingsworth are counsel for the defendant.

Saturday Night Boxing Bouts

Tony Bender, the New York ring veteran will meet a tough customer in Johnny Celmar, the Pittsburgh K. O. king at the Charleroi rink Saturday night. In the semi-final Fitz Ellsner of Donora, meets Special Delivery Tully of Pittsburgh. In the second preliminary, Ike Palmer of Fayette City, meets Patsy Gilmore of Charleroi, while in the opening bout, Trixie Brennen who many experts and wise ones in the fistic art think the most clever boy in the business, will meet a tough one in Kid Smith of Newell.

This card appears to be a big treat for the fans of the valley, and many Monessen sports are planning to be among the ring-side spectators.

Business Men Want Free Bridge

Charleroi business men held a meeting last night for the purpose of transacting general business. The most important matter brought up was the freeing of the Lock 4 bridge. It was decided to have an attorney to take up the question at once and push it to a final culmination Petitions have been passed and signed on both sides of the river and sentiment in favor of the bridge being made free is spreading rapidly.

Mrs. Keenan Sues Railroad

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Keenan, formerly of Monessen, but now of Greensburg, through their attorney, Hiliard Keenan, Wednesday filed suit against the Pennsylvania railroad company. The statement filed in the action claims that Mrs. Keenan was a passenger upon one of the company's trains September 19, 1914. When the train reached the Greensburg station, she arose from her seat to disembark from the train, but she was compelled to traverse two cars before reaching a car that had its vestibule door open, and that when she did attempt to alight from the train, through the alleged negligent operation of the train by the employees of the company, the train gave a violent lurch forward and she was thrown to the station platform and received many injuries, among others the breaking of her left wrist. For these injuries and the suffering caused thereby, she asks the sum of $5,000, while Mr. Keenan claims $2,500 for expenses incident to the injury.

MUCH INTEREST AROUSED OVER BILL AFFECTING NEWS BOYS

The powers at Harrisburg who want to appear busy are pushing forward the new Child Labor law which is attracting much attention, as it is strongly favored by Governor Brumbaugh.

The bill was introduced in the house by Mr Cox of Philadelphia, chairman of the house committee on manufactures who stated that the bill had been given to him by the governor and that it and other child labor bills would be given a hearing by the senate and house committee in charge on March 17.

This bill may possess some redeeming features, but surely that applying to newsboys is not one of them.

The selling of newspapers on the the selling of newspapers by boys compulsory regulation, as the greater number of boys sell papers as a novelty, for the pleasure of the work, and to pick up a few pennies each day for their own use. In many instances the selling of newspapers by boys from 10 to 14 or 15 years of age is the beginning of a successful business career, and the general opinion of the people that the enforcement of that portion of the bill, as introduced would be a miscarriage of justice and be applying legislative restriction where it is not called for in the least.

The main features of the bill are as follows:

Children under 14 prohibited from working for compensation except in vacations and then only those over 12 may be employed.

Children under 14 and 16 are permitted to work if they have certificates of employment. but must attend continuation schools.

The scale of hours is fifty-two per week, nine hours a day for those between 15 and 16, and forty-eight per week, eight hours a day for those between 14 and 15.

Children between 14 and 15 must attend continuation schools for one day a week and those between 15 and 16 half a day a week, the schools to be established under direction of the state department of public instruction.

No minors may be employed as messengers between 8 p. m. and 6 a. m.

No one under 14 may be employed in selling newspapers or other street trades, and girls under 18 may not be so employed at all. After 8 p. m., only boys over 16 may sell papers.

No one under 16 may be employed in what are classed as hazardous employments, which include operating automobiles, working in glass factories, about coal mines, iron and steel establishments, laundry machinery, printing presses, except operated by foot power, etc.

No one under 18 may be employed on street cars, railroads, in powder factories or operating an aeroplane or automobile.

Night work on streets after 8 p. m. is forbidden.

No one under 21 can be a telephone operator or messenger after night fall.

The employment certificates must also attest physical fitness.

Trolley Service Into W. Va.

From present indications it will not be long before one can go from Pittsburgh, Pa., to Fairmont, W. Va., by trolley, without interruption, the route to be by way of Charleroi and through Brownsville, a continuous route.

The name "Monongahela Railroad company" has ben officially changed to Monongahela Railways company," alleviating a legal tangle and hindrance which heretofore stood in the way of extending the line. The work of completing the line near Fairmont is now in progress and through service in the near future is looked for.

Because of the change of name, other extensions than the one now being made, are suggested. A peculiar distinction exists in the name "railroad" and "railways." If a line is known as a railroad, its charter has to be amended before it can make extensions; if it is known as a railways extensions can be made without any change.

The Monongahela Railways company's line from Brownsville to the West Virginia point when complete, will be an important link in the service from Pittsburgh to West Virginia It is understood that tariffs have already been prepared for through operation from Pittsburgh to Fairmont.

Deserted Wife Seeks Support

COMMITTEE VISITS HOSPITAL

The local hospital was visited yesterday afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock by a sub committee of the Appropriations Committee of the House and thoroughly inspected from cellar to garret with a view of recommending an appropriation for state aid and maintenance the next two years. The committee was H. R. Myers of Washington, Pa, chairman; J. C. Steedle, William J. McCraig and John C. Kaiser of Allegheny county; John McClintock of Philadelphia and Duncan Sinclair of Fayette county.

Among the members of the Board of Directors present were W. R. Gaut, vice president, Kerfoot W. Daly, John W. Carroll, Richard A. Roberts, treasurer, J. C. Roberts, secretary, S. L. Woodward and C. L. Schuck, president. Miss Genevieve Dahy, the new superintendent, accompanied the party of inspection and assisted in pointing out the needs of the institution.

It may be recalled that a total of $15,000 is asked, $8,000 for maintenance for two years, and $7,000 for building and extension. The policy of this legislature may be not to grant any appropriation for building and extension, but it is hoped in the near future to erect a two story brick ward in the rear and adapt the rooms in the western main administration building to private patients.

The Board has under consideration a change of visiting hours to three days in the week, Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday from 2 until 3 p. m. and the evenings of the same days from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock.

ASKED BY THE PEOPLE

If you have any doubt as to whether times are going to get back to normal just turn on the mirror of retrospection. Two years ago when the Democrats went into power, this country was experiencing one of the greatest business booms in its history.

The legislation they had proposed was most radical and old line Republicans prophesied that if such legislation went into force that the wheels of American industries would be stopped stock still and much of the labor would be without employment. It was considered tommy rot, political buncombe, darn foolishness. But it didn't take two years to bring to pass just what was prophesied. The Wilson administration passed radical free trade laws that have worked hardships to capital and business interests and as a result there has been a general depression.

Now the trend of times is changing and the next four years will see much of this radical legislation being repealed. The full crew law is now getting its jolts and is bound to be wiped off the statute books. Wilson says there shall be no more legislation than tends to interrupt business conditions and the senate of Pennsylvania by an overwhelming majority, has adopted a resolution praying the congress of the United States to repeal the near free trade tariff law which has blighted this country, and especially this state, and enact a law which will give adequate protection to labor and the industries.

The resolution recites the stagnation of industries, the alarming number of unemployed the country over, the inability of many to secure sufficient food, raiment and shelter, and finally expresses the belief that conditions threaten to get worse instead of better. The principle embodied in the resolution appealed to the senators of both political parties and was finally adopted with but 11 votes against it.

The adoption of the resolution asking for the repeal of the near free trade tariff legislation, is generally accepted as a test of the temper of the people of this state. The senators come direct from the people. They know exactly what their people want and their earnest plea to congress, while likely to be ignored, cannot be disregarded. It is the voice of the greatest industrial state in the union. It is a protest against the inefficiency and incompetency of Democracy and must be accepted as the beginning of the end of Democratic rule in this country.

JUST COMMENDATION

The Independent always believes in giving credit where credit is due, and it reserves the right to criticise any public official when proper occasion arises, and this method adopted by the paper and lasting through its years will be continued regardless of the personal wishes of public officials. If they don't like it, they had better resign from office, and if they are over sensitive or imbued with too much personal pride to withstand it, better not read the paper

In this connection and without any personal motives whatever, we wish to commend Burgess A G. Dunlap and Street Commissioner Addison Frazier for their excellent and prolific efforts in introducing with a high degree of success the w[illegible]ing of convict labor upon our public streets. Burgess Dunlap has not hesitated to sentence men guilty in his court to street labor and Mr. Frazier has willingly and effectively taken these men to the streets and placed them in his gangs where they worked out their sentences and more than paid for the food they consumed.

Thus instead of the taxpayers paying for the keep of these men while they are incarcerated, society is reaping a benefit and much is being done to break up the habit of violating the law. Mr. Frazier has been so successful in working these men that no one has ever made his escape from the gang. His workmen are loyal and when a convict is placed among them with instructions that he be not allowed to get away, the fellow knows enough not to try. Few taxpayers not familiar with the inside of Burgess Dunlap's court or the methods of Mr. Frazier know how much is being saved annually in street pay roll by this method. May the good work be continued

A DANGEROUS STEP

It has been said and wisely, too, that a government is no better than the people who create it. This town is about to be confronted with an issue which should be approached with the greatest care, that of an opportunity to change its form of government from that of a borough to a third class city.

Should the council adopt the resolution and declare for an election, and should the electors so choose, Monessen will become a third class city under what is known as the Clark bill. It will change our entire form of government, ripping out of office every official now holding public office from the burgess down. It will create many new jobs, and they are in a large measure appointive with handsome salaries attached. The intent of the law is possibly alright, but Senator Clark himself has just introduced sweeping resolutions to the bill in an effort to have it attractive to boroughs to supplant local government.

People who petition to council or those who expect to vote on the question should do so only after the most thorough investigation, and after a full knowledge of what is embodied in the bill and before the matter is forced upon council the petition should be well considered.

SPORTS

Last night's game in the pocket pool tournament, the score was Harry Lebowitz 100 and Joe O'Toole 55. The crowd was one of the largest assembled at the Olympic pool parlor since this series of plays began and Lebowitz was at his best, showing better form and steadier nerve than at any time since the Olympic has been opened

This evening Lebowitz will meet the popular Italian pool player, Pete Caprpriere, who has the reputation of being among the best shots of the valley, and it is thought he may show Lebowitz up good and hard. At any rate, it will be a good game and a large crowd is looked for.

Do You Know that Railroad Expansion Makes Work and Stimulates Industry?

Money saved by the railroads flows back to the people. The $2,000,000 paid annually by the railroads of Pennsylvania and New Jersey to unnecessary trainmen, forced upon them by the Full Crew—or "excess man crew"—Laws, deprives the people of the big benefits and advantages this money, properly expended, would bring.

Because the efficient development of the railway industry in these States is so materially identified with the prosperity of the farmer, business man, working man, and scores of more or less affiliated industries, the railroads ask the people to help them save this huge amount—now absolutely wasted—that it may go to useful purposes and work toward restoration of general prosperity.

This $2,000,000 spent for 80 locomotives, for example, would make one year's work for 1745 men, as follows:

In the locomotive shops	894
In the various processes of producing the 29,200,000 pounds of material going into these locomotives, 851 men would get employment as follows:
In steel mills	206
In blast furnaces	45
In iron mines	140
In coal and coke production	60
In other work	400

Wages for all these men would amount to $1,750,000. This wage money going into circulation would make work in hundreds of other directions.

Railroad development bears upon all industries. It affects hundreds of businesses, thousands of individuals. Under normal conditions, the railroads constitute a great constructive force. Increasing their facilities and improving their systems results in stimulating all industry and business and automatically creates work for innumerable persons in many occupations.

Increased industrial activity swells passenger and freight traffic. This means more trains and real work for additional crews. In turn, it necessitates more locomotives and cars, increased equipment, erection of new and remodeling of old stations, reduction of grades and curves, elimination of grade crossings, construction of sidings in producing territories, increased passenger and freight terminal facilities.

The welfare of the people and the prosperity of the railroads are closely linked. The railroads find their prosperity in the general welfare. They seek not to decrease, but to increase, employment.

Communicate in person, by letter, or otherwise—TODAY—with your elected representatives at Harrisburg and Trenton. Ask them to repeal the Full Crew Laws. Call attention to the fact that, of 282 editorials received to date, 229 urge the repeal of the laws.

Let all get together to start the wheels of industry turning—to open wide the doors to prosperity.

Peoples Forum.

This column is devoted to the expression of the opinion of our readers and in no wise denotes the paper's opinion on or sympathy with any question involved.

Editor Daily Independent:—

I believe that it is a matter of history that some years ago, New Orleans instituted a commission form of government, which was most successful in its administration, but the enemy to all civic progress, the foe to all enlightenment, the professional politician found it to be hostile to his interest and eventually wiped it out of existence It was not good for graft, the people had come too close to their interests.

In 1901, the forward movement of the people, springing from necessities arising from a flood, placed Gelveston, Texas, under a commission form of government, and it has remained there for fourteen years, a monument of the wisdom and sound sense of progressive citizenship. Since that time, so firmly fixed has the experiment founded its principles in Texas, that practically all the principal cities have assumed the same form of government, as have many of the smaller towns, and today Texas demonstrates the efficiency and absolute success of the commission or limited council form of government

I am not so presumptuous to say that the states of Texas, California, Colorado, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, Ohio, Washington and Wisconsin, the very home of advanced thought and progressive legislation, are so wedded to Utopian ideas as to assume a government which is built on folly and lack of business principles. The business sense, the progressiveness, the readiness to seek that which is good for their cities, their states, bars any man, except a fool, from declaring the West as being behind the times.

About 30 states, and by the way, the District of Columbia is ruled, and managed by a commission, have authorized the commission form of government, after due and deliberate investigation, and progressive municipalitites have adopted it, and yet poor old Pennsylvania, staid, tried anl true when the call for action finally reaches its ears, rock ribbed in conservatism, special interests and graft, refuses to see, near o act. Not so, we are awakening, the people are alert, they are seizing the reins of government and are demanding to know the reason and cause of things. About one-half of eligible boroughs and cities have sought a better government by the adoption of the commission or limited council form, and yet some say it is more expensive. Does such an assertion, without proof, demand an answer from nearly four hundred boroughs, towns and citites including the District of Columbia, ranging from 5,000 to 331,000 population in over one-half of the states of the union? I rather think not

I am of the opinion that no one wishes to say that the change is expensive, or dares to assert that the citites adopting the commission or limited council plan of government would do it, knowing that it would increase the expense or taxes We must credit our neighbor with discretion and sense, with a desire to administer his affairs with his income, until it is shown that he is a failure, so we must credit these municipalities with business judgment, a keen sense of what constitutes wise management, and not call our prejudices to our aid to carry a point against a form of government which has come to stay.

No one of the 106 signers to the petition signed with the thought of making war on the burgess, tax collector or council. It was the call of higher citizenship, better and more economical government which prempted the move, and the "ripping" of individuals out of office was not an element in it. No man or set of men, can claim greater or prior rights to the city or cause which is served. The individual must give way to the good of society, and a good citizen aids such causes by being responsive to the demands made.

The commission or limited council plan of government is the call of the people demanding better government, more economic than the corrupt system at present in vogue; it is the demand of the people who place the city's welfare above that of parties, wherein the city becomes an administrative unit and asks to centralize its authority, it reaches out and adopts business methods to its transactions and that means and demands greater efficiency, which means, if desired, expert management. The move has proved successful

It is no experiment. Special interests and political ward healers and grafters say it is a failure, but give you no facts to show the truth of their assertions. This form of government invites investigation, it bears it and progressive citizenship has demonstrated it a success, economical and productive of benefits, not reached by the obsolete systems by which we are now governed. Some citizens believe in progress, others would have us yet bearing the yoke of Great Britain, rather than step out from the ranks of doubt and fear, and experiment.

Daniel Reamer.

Editor Daily Independent:—

I noticed in last night's paper, a copy of a petition sent in to council asking for a special election to determine the wishes of the people with regard to the third class city. First I want to say that I can hardly believe the petition was a representative one. I have little doubt but what the men who signed it are citizens and they may be taxpayers of the town, and it is not my mission to question any voter's right to petition. He has a constitutional right to sign any petition he chooses. But what I do want to impress is that the petition was not representative in as much as it does not include signers from our greatest business and financial institutions.

Not one of our mill officials have signed the petition, not one of our banks is represented thereon and very few of our larger property interests. In other words, the men who pay the biggest bulk of the taxes were either slighted when the petition was passed or they refused to sign it.

I am firmly of the opinion that if we are to change our form of government that it ought to be after the most careful consideration and with the consent of the majority of our heaviest taxpayers.

Furthermore I question whether the men who signed the petition have familiarized themselves with the Clark bill which we are asked to adopt. I understand that Connellsville has had no end of trouble since they adopted the third class city act, and that on a number of questions they have had to resort to an opinion of the courts to determine a point of authority. I understand also, that they found Third class city operations so expensive that it not only became necessary to raise the millage from 12 to 15½ mills, but that valuations were also shot up. I believe that before the council votes favorably upon this petition that a public meeting should be held and a disinterested committee of citizens appointed to visit the towns that made the change and get the inside of their experiments and after this report is made, if it is deemed advisable by a majority of leading citizens, then put it up to a vote of the people. But to plunge the town into the expense of an election at this time when there does not seem to be sufficient sentiment for the change, is to do the taxpayers a great wrong.

"Interested."

Dear Editor:—

In reading your paper last evening relative to the petition callin the electors of the borough of sen to submit this question to ple, I wish to say that the signatures to this petitio serve that there is a personal f mine whose name appears and he is a resident of R township and this has s aroused my suspicions as to the voters of Rostraver towns be called upon to help decide t class city law or whether the of Monessen electors are not of deciding this for themselv thermore, this petition seems been largely signed after som service, and my idea of civic that religion and politics s separate and distinct. Poli religion are like oil and wat will not mix.

As this question has com the people, if you will permi space, would be pleased to a questions through your medi day to day until the Rostrav ship voters have finally set question for us.

Yours Respe
"N
